

2012 Serve-A-Thon for Schools

On Saturday, April 28th, several local Baha'i community members volunteered at Midtown Primary School as part of the Serve-A-Thon for Schools. The Serve-A-Thon for Schools is a city-wide day of service, organized by HandsOn Greater Phoenix, that mobilizes 1000s of volunteers across Phoenix to work with children, help clean up classrooms, renovate playgrounds, paint murals, and much more. The Phoenix Baha'i team helped repaint Midtown Primary School's outside fence, as well as clean up their school courtyard. In attendance were local Baha'is Colby Jeffers, Mallory Quigg, Richard Jeffers, Nic Mohadjer, Ladan Kamali, and Jens Larson, as well as a few friends of the Faith, Ricardo Mawcinnitt, Amanda Shepherd, and Rania Elebrashi.
